THE thoughts of the whole world today have been turned to the national capital, where President Wilson will this evening take Mrs. Norman (Edith Bolling) Galt as his bride. The wedding is of world-wide interest, and the fair bride of the president has received magnificent gifts from all parts of the globe.

The wedding is to be very quiet and only the relatives and close friends of the president and Mrs. Galt will be present. The ceremony is to be performed in the drawing room of Mrs. Galt's home, which has been transformed into a tower of flowers. The blossoms which have been used in the decorations were grown in the famous conservatories at the White House and are said to be exceptionally beautiful. Chrysanthemums will be used for the most part. An altar decorated with flowers has been erected in the west end of the room and it is here that the president will lead his bride. The bride will be attired in a simple traveling suit and her bouquet will be orchids. Miss Bertha Bolling, a sister, is to be maid of honor, while the president will be attended by his brother, Mr. Joseph R. Wilson. Rev. Dr. Herbert Scott Smith is to read the marriage service.

After the marriage there will be an informal reception, after which the president and his bride will leave for a short honeymoon. Just where they will take their wedding trip has been kept a secret even from members of the families.

Some among those who have been chosen to the wedding are Joseph R. Wilson, of Baltimore, a brother of President Wilson; Mrs. Anne Howe, his sister; Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, Mrs. W. G. McAdoo and Miss Margaret Wilson, the daughters of the president; Secretary McAdoo, Mr. Sayre, Mrs. Bolling, Ralph E. Bolling, Mrs. M. H. Maury, John R. Maury, Miss Bertha Bolling, Richard W. Bolling and Julian Bolling, all of whom are relatives of Mrs. Galt. Mrs. Alexander Galt, a cousin of the late Sherman Galt, has also been invited.

It is noted today the wedding party attending the christening of Ellen Wilson McAdoo, the baby granddaughter of the president. The little tot has been named for her grandmother, the president's first wife. Her grandfather will also act as her godfather.

Mrs. Henry Hunt Tomkins of Denver, Colorado, whose return to the islands is proof of the charm of Hawaii to a much-travelled mainland.

Special Parties at Kaneohe.

A number of special parties have journeyed to the Coral Gardens of Kaneohe this week to enjoy the trip in the glass-bottomed boat on the bay, as well as the scenery on Windward Oahu, a glimpse of which travelers there get as they take in the wonderful view from the Nuuanu Pali. The weather has been delightful and at the Coral Garden Hotel amid flowers and greens, afternoon tea, including salads and fruit, were served. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. T. Bottomley were the hosts at an automobile party to the Coral Gardens last Sunday. They saw the "painted" fishes and the beautiful coral and had lunch at the hotel under the big luan house. Those in the party besides Mr. and Mrs. Bottomley were Miss Jordan, Miss Berg, S. R. Jordan, A. L. Jordan and F. K. Bottomley.

Another party to the Coral Gardens last Monday with Mrs. M. Macdonald and E. H. Lewis of Honolulu, were E. Wofford, Roy Wimbler, Alice Wimbler of Portland, Oregon; D. Knox, Miss Abbie H. Newton and Miss Agnes Judd of this city. Mrs. Hicks also chaperoned a jolly party to the Coral Gardens, which included N. J. Galt, San Francisco; Mrs. F. S. Zeave, Honolulu; Hugh Dooley, Baton Rouge, La.; Daniel Elberfeld, Honolulu; F. Anderson, Josephine Monahan, Miss Marie Everson and William J. Mangels, San Francisco; S. A. Crosby, Boston; Miss Paulsen and H. Hurlbut, Honolulu.

Lieut.-col. and Mrs. J. B. Houston, U. S. A., were interested visitors to the gardens of coral this week. The Coral Garden Hotel is rapidly becoming a popular objective point for the army officers of Honolulu and their friends.

One of the jolliest parties which has ever visited the Coral Gardens traveled over there yesterday in a large Hudson Six, on which was inscribed, "Rochester to Honolulu via San Francisco." The party of eight included Mrs. F. Ganzel, Mrs. Nellie Wright and daughter of Honolulu, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ganzel, Miss June E. Ganzel and H. Travis, all of Rochester, N. Y. They visited the gardens of coral in the glass-bottom boat, and had lunch on the dining-room lanai. The day was a perfect one both on land and water.

Peggy Center Much Feted.

Honolulu friends have received a number of interesting letters from Miss Peggy Center since she made her somewhat hurried departure for the mainland. Though the "adorable Peggy" disliked very much giving up her winter season in the islands she is now delighted with the prospects of spending the whole winter in San Francisco where she is being much feted. The other day Mrs. Fritz Henshaw, who lived here during the first two years of her married life, gave a tea at which Miss Center and Miss Eleanor Tay were the guests of honor. This is but one of the many functions that have been given in honor of the charming island girl and though her friends are pleased that her visit is proving so enjoyable her place in the younger set here is one hard to fill. When she returns early in February she will indeed be royally welcomed.

Forefathers' Day Dinner.

Hawaiian Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and Aloha Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, are sending out to members and special guests invitations to the commemorative dinner on the evening of next Tuesday, December 21, at the University Club, at 7 o'clock.

Among the speakers of the evening are Governor Pinkham, Federal Judge Sanford Ballard Dole, Capt. Paul B. Malohe, U. S. A., Professor W. A. Bryan of the College of Hawaii, and Compatriot James A. Wilder.

The committee from the S. A. R. is composed of Dr. S. D. Barnes, president; Professor W. A. Bryan and G. W. R. King. The D. A. R. committee is made up of Mrs. W. A. Bryan, regent of Aloha chapter; Miss Minnie Armstrong and Miss Carolyn Church.

Miss Sara Lucas a Hostess.

A bright moon shining over silver waters made a pretty setting for the informal at-home at which Miss Sara Lucas was hostess last evening at the Lucas residence at Kalaiala. Swimming and dancing proved enjoyable forms of entertainment, and the hour was late before the young people turned their thoughts homeward. Miss Lucas' guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clark, Miss Ruth McChesney, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Dorothy Guild, Miss Gertrude McCortison, Miss Abbie Buchanan, Dr. George Braly, Dr. L. E. Hooper, Mr. R. J. O'Connor, Mr. Eberly, Mr. Bert Clark, Mr. Walter Rycroft, Mr. Bob McCortison and Mr. M. B. Henshaw.

Justice A. G. M. Robertson Host at Stag Dinner.

Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson was host last night at a stag dinner at his home on Makiki and Dominis street. An attractive centerpiece of red flowers was used in decoration. Loxas and roses were used for decoration in the reception and drawing rooms. Among those present were Mr. Maceom, A. Franklin, Mr. Frank Thompson, Judge A. S. Humphreys, Mr. A. L. C. Atkinson, Mr. Robert Brechons, Mr. Young, Mr. A. M. Campbell, Judge Will Whitney, Judge Alexander Lindsey, Mr. M. E. Prosser, Mr. Horace Vaughan, Mr. C. A. Brown.

Wedding in Marion.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Buscher at 4:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Genevieve Denis became the bride of Mr. Madison Merritt Wilson.

The home of the bride's sister was decorated with quantities of white chrysanthemums and green ferns and palms for the occasion, and on the lanai, where the marriage service was read, an altar was built of flowers and ferns.

In the dining-room, where the wedding supper was served, bride's roses and lilies of the valley were attractive as a table centerpiece, above which hung a wedding veil of the same blossoms, and smilax and roses were arranged upon the cover.

The bride was attractively gowned in white satin ornamented with heavy duchess lace; her sister, Mrs. Buscher, who attended her as matron of honor, was in pink silk.

Mrs. Fannie Villase, who gave her daughter into the keeping of the bridegroom, wore a handsome gown of soft black satin.

The marriage service was read by Rev. Father Valentini, and Mr. J. E. Breault was best man.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held and a wedding supper served. During the gayeties Mr. and Mrs. Wilson slipped quietly away to Kalaiala, where they will spend their honeymoon.

The bride came to Honolulu a short time ago, accompanied by her mother, and during the time she has been here has made many friends. Mr. Wilson has for the past two years been manager of Jordan & Company. He came here from Portland, Ore.

An Informal Musical.

Miss Pearl Sutherland was hostess at a delightfully informal musical last evening, to which about 40 guests were invited. A very pleasing program was arranged in which a few of the guests and the hostess took part. Mrs. David L. Stone, wife of Capt. Stone, sang several selections; Mr. Edwin Ideler, instructor on the violin at Punahou Academy, pleased the gathering with a violin solo. Miss Sutherland's piano selections were splendidly given.

Leap Year Dance.

The first week in January will witness a number of informal affairs at which the fair ladies will lead. Among these is a Leap Year dance, to be given by members of the Punahou Academy set and their friends. Four years ago there were two of these dances and two return dances by the boys, which were very pleasant. The girls, who are planning the coming affair, say that they are going to "do it up brown," and that several surprises are in store for the Honolulu boys.

Mrs. Gartenberg a Hostess.

A charming affair of the week was the luncheon at which Mrs. A. Gartenberg entertained on Wednesday at her home at Waikiki.

Record Dance by Lihue's Ou Club.

LIHUE, Dec. 14.—One of the biggest, swiftest and most successful dance programs ever attempted by the Ou Club was carried out in Lihue Social Hall Saturday evening. It being intended particularly as a compliment to the young people of the other towns of the island. There were guests from every part of Kauai between Hanalei and the Parking Sands, and the general report is that all had a good time.

A Christmas effect was given to the decorations, a special committee taking this work in hand at a late hour but making a complete success of it. An excellent orchestra supplied music. Light refreshments were served throughout the evening, while during the intermission, after 11 o'clock, quite an elaborate and acceptable lunch was passed around by picturequely attired Japanese waitresses.

An electric transparency above the stage announced the dance numbers, while Hon. J. H. Coney proved a very efficient announcer for the dancers. The program was long and varied, and it was a tired but altogether happy party that dispersed at an early hour in the morning.

During the intermission for refreshments there were some special musical features. Among the very best was a violin solo by Mr. E. W. Carden, who rendered the Austrian Imperial Hymn, by Kreisler, without accompaniment. Other excellent specialties were two quartet songs by members of the orchestra.

In points of attendance and excellence of features this affair was probably the record for the Ou Club—Garden Island.

Arrivals at Naval Station, Pearl Harbor.

Assistant Civil Engineer Henry O. Taylor, U. S. N., Mrs. Taylor and their two small daughters were, upon the arrival of the transport Sherman, the guests of Civil Engineer and Mrs. Parks. They are now domiciled in their new home, Quarters "E," Naval Station, Pearl Harbor.
